What steps will you take to make your event accessible? (For example: providing accommodation, wheelchairs, sign languages)

Word count: 100 - 200

We have reserved Sonata Room in Gordon Dining and Event Center as our event location. This facility is located in a well-used and well known area on campus. There are easily accessible parking lots nearby, and bike racks for those who come on bicycles. The Gordon Dining and Event Center has elevators and bathrooms on the same floor as the Sonata Room and is accessible for those with mobility disabilities. JSA officers will be standing at the entrance to ask for any assistance needed for individuals with mobility or visual disabilities. Because the room is large, JSA will place the booths near the walls of the room to allow for individuals with mobility and/or visual disabilities to walk and navigate through the event freely. This space will account for the turning radius as well as individuals who will be walking with an aid. All booths and tables will account for individuals with any disabilities, so that all individuals can freely look and interact with activities, games, or other individuals. Any interpreter or aid who attends will have a saved adequate space to help. The event will be occurring during the day, so lighting will not be an issue. The emergency exits have signs that are easily readable. An agenda will be posted online so attendees can prepare beforehand, and programs will be printed and accessible for all with a sufficiently large font. All allergy warnings will be presented clearly at the food booth in bold font. Advertising for the event will begin a month before the event. We will advertise mainly through the internet, Facebook, twitter, and our club website. We also hope to print posters to place around campus to spread the word about the spring festival. Additionally, we hope to use email to connect to the campus community to further spread the word. All email announcements will be copied via text and pasted into the body to account for easy reading or conversion or any individuals with disabilities. Any accommodation requests will be followed up within 24 hours via email, and volunteers will be well informed and trained to represent JSA and the University.

You will be asked to include an accessibility tagline on all publicity for the event so that students who would like to request accommodation can do so with advance notice. For assistance writing an accessibility tagline for your event publicity, please see the document Accessibility Taglines for Events at the following page of the McBurney Disability Resource Center's website: https://mcburney.wisc.edu/resources/accessibility-taglines-for-events/ Please write down your accommodation statement that will appear on your promotional materials.

If you need an accommodation to attend this event or have special dietary needs, please contact Bucky XXXXX at XXX-XXXX-XXXX or xxxxxxx@wisc.edu.

Planning Process Details

Please describe your event. What will it consist of? What are your goals? Why are you holding this event? Word count: 200 - 300

JSA Spring Festival is designed to educate and entertain students at the same time. Our unique cultural booths and various authentic performances will provide students with different ways of experiencing Japanese culture. For example, while a Traditional Game Booth is a place to have hands-on experience of Japanese culture, History Booth is set to lecture students verbally. In addition to these, we have booths that introduce Calligraphy, Origami, Yukata, Food, Ghibli, Anime, and Cosplay as well. We will also expose attendees to the dancing and singing aspects of Japanese and other Asian cultures through various performances. Students is encouraged to speak with the performers to understand the musical and cultural facts of each performance.
The Spring Festival is the main event offered by JSA in this spring semester. One of our missions as a cultural organization is to provide students with an experience in which they can take away ideas and cultural mindsets native to Japan. Any student and faculty who is interested in or curious about Japanese culture is the target audience of the event. This event will allow for an educational, collaborative, and hands on learning environment, where Japanese culture can be shared, understood, and applied.

How will this event benefit and/or allow for the full inclusion of international students? Word count: 200 -300

The Spring Festival will greatly benefit the Madison international community. The Madison campus community has a very small Japanese community compared to other Asian nationalities and is under-represented. With this event, we hope to spread the word about the unique aspects of Japanese culture that is not seen in other cultures around the world. Because the event will be interactive, fun and memorable, cultural knowledge and understanding from the event will produce lots of enthusiasm. Ultimately, this will broaden the spectrum of the international community at UW - Madison. Hopefully, students will give positive reviews from the event, and share among each other learned cultural facts and ideas. These will spread throughout the community and will contribute to the building of a diverse and open minded campus. This event also serves as a place for international students to meet and share ideas. We hope that the learning of new and unique cultures will engage individuals to be more interested and open minded to different ideas and nationalities.

What is your marketing plan? How do you plan on publicizing this event to achieve your attendance goals? (Example: social media, campus newspaper, poster, flyer, chalking, etc.)Please note that ISS offers free advertisement through the weekly and bi-monthly email newsletter. Please contact iss.comm@studentlife.wisc.edu for more information.Write down your marketing timeline, starting at least two weeks before your event. Word count: 200 -300

Advertising for the event will begin a month before the event. We will advertise mainly through
How will your event achieve at least one of the following two Global Badger Experience Grant Objectives?

Objective 1) Global Engagement and Cultural Understanding. Applicants must demonstrate educational components with clear learning goals, and with the aim of expanding attendees' cultural knowledge, introducing new perspectives, and/or fostering intercultural dialogue. Examples of ways RSOs can meet this criterion include: presentations, performances and/or demonstrations with explanation as to the activity’s cultural significance, introducing attendees to culturally relevant cuisine with explanation of ingredients and cultural significance, film screenings, intercultural discussions, workshops, and more. Events without clear learning components will not be considered. Objective 2) Development of International Community. The event aims to establish cross-cultural connections among students of various backgrounds through a variety of educational programs, for example, workshops, discussions, and community-building activities. Applicants must indicate concrete strategies for guided interactions and provide detailed descriptions of: How a GBE Grant-funded event will actively engage multicultural students in building an international community and creating a more inclusive campus. How the event supports multidirectional intercultural learning. The focus must be on the exchange of information and multidirectional learning. How the funded event will encourage this learning and interpersonal interaction to continue after the event is over. The presence of students from different ethnic, national, and/or cultural backgrounds at an event in and of itself does not constitute a focus on international community development. Examples include: Navigating cross-cultural discussions, facilitating icebreaker activities that allow students from different backgrounds to meet each other, intentionally creating diverse teams of students to participate in games or athletic events, etc. The GBE Grant Review Committee will look for a thoughtful explanation for how requested funds would be used to address the above-listed points, and encourages RSOs to collaborate with each other. Word count: 300 - 400 as well as Japanese objects, games, or activities in which attendees will be able to interact with. Each booth will be set up in a fashion where attendees can read about Japanese culture on a tri-fold board. A JSA member or officer will be standing next to the board to explain details as well as share personal experiences that pertain to the board. Objects and activities are placed in front of the board to allow for the interaction of each cultural aspect and the attendee. For example, JSA will prepare a Japanese Games Booth, where a trifold poster will have information regarding games that are unique to Japan. A JSA member or officer will stand by the board and talk with the attendee to explain details and jargon about the games, as well as talk about games he or she may have played during his or her childhood. Then, a game that was shown on the board will be available for use in front of the board. In this fashion, each board will allow for individuals to learn about each aspect of Japanese culture, and then directly relate to it by interacting with the game and JSA member/official. Our main goal is to offer an opportunity to experience authentic Japanese culture and be able to take away ideas and cultural mindsets native to Japan which can be shared with peers. Our integrated way of learning will allow for us to achieve this goal. Along with the booths, JSA will arrange authentic performances that will showcase modern and historic Japanese cultures. We will expose attendees to the dancing, singing, and performance aspects of Japanese and Asian cultures. Attendees will have the opportunity to watch and speak with performers to share knowledge and cultural facts about each performance. In this way, we are able to create an environment where sharing culture is encouraged, and members of the UW community can meet and share their personal experiences. With this environment of collaboration, sharing, and inclusiveness, individuals of the UW community can share Japanese culture and hopefully have an open mind to not only Japanese culture but all nationalities.

How does your group intend to remain fiscally responsible with this event? What measures are you taking to keep costs reasonable for this event? Word count: 200 - 300

In order to reduce costs of the event, JSA officers will be providing a portion of the games and materials necessary. Because each booth requires a trifold board and an activity, JSA will be needing different supplies and games. Many of the JSA officers will provide these necessities. Certain games, poster decorations, performance decorations, and activity objects will be provided by JSA officers as well. For example, instead of purchasing, JSA officers will have prepared a set of kendama games and traditional garbs. Additionally, we will not ask to purchase certain expensive supplies, and instead will be asking to rent these. For example, we hope to have prepared a polaroid camera that attendees can use to capture moments while experiencing the Japanese culture. We will not be purchasing a polaroid, and instead will be asking for the rental instead. For supply funding, we have also sought the cheapest options. Instead of purchasing all materials and supplies from the UW bookstore, we have looked at other online options such as Amazon. JSA understands that supplies and materials from the UW bookstore may be more expensive than other suppliers. Thus, we have sought the online supplier Amazon to purchase certain supplies and materials at the lowest possible cost. It is hard, however, to control the cost of food since we are asking the UW Housing to prepare it for us. Yet, we have contacted the manager for many times trying to minimize the cost by providing recipes that contain less and cheaper ingredients.
